

BRONZE: If you have some, sit down and take a look through your family photographs (if you don't, maybe ask an adult to help you write a list of everyone in your family). Do you have any questions about people in your family? What do you know about them already? For each family member, write some information about them, think about:

-Appearance

-Talents

-Interests

-Personality

-Can you describe them in three words?

(share your work about one family member in the comments below)

1. SILVER: Family Interview

We can learn from family members of all ages. Often, older members of the family have experiences and wisdom to share- So, I would like you to interview somebody in your family who is older than you! It could be a grandparent, parent, aunt, uncle or older sibling. Ask them the following questions- and of course, anything else you would like to ask them! (write down your answers and share your favourite three questions and answers in the comments)

1) What advice would you give to people my age? - Get involved in activities that are taking place in school, i.e school play, volunteer and whichever activity that is happening. Never think you can't do anything but with practice you would. Always have a positive attitude to everything. Never give up.

Don't be in a hurry to grow up take your time. Learn a new skill whenever you can and don't forget be nice and show kindness always.

2) What do you always remind yourself of when you face a challenge? - I listen and learn from others past experience, I don't depend on people to fix my problem, I always celebrate my small victories, I find refuge with my siblings, and they make great company 😊.

3) What are you proud of? - My family- you inclusive, my job which I love, my friends, my religion and my ability to be able to forgive.

4) What skills do you have? - Communication skills, I can plan organise and prioritise my work, being able to make decisions and resolve issues, I have interpersonal skills.

5) What did you want to be when you were my age? - A superstar 🌟

6) What do you like about the community you live in? - The friendliness of people living here, the easy access to buy basic items and the environment in general.

7) Why do you think family is important? - Family is most important because it is the most valuable gift given to us by God. Family is what teaches us what is wrong and right, family is what teaches you humanity. Family is what cannot be replaced and is what will never leave you, it is where you have unconditional support. And it is what begins to make you who you are. You always feel secure and protected around them, and you can share your problems and success with them. Family means unconditional love and with family you are guaranteed that there is someone in your corner always!

8) What do you hope for the future? - My hope for the future is that there is unconditional love and the need for humanity to come together as one without the discrimination of country, tribe or religion. And we can all be one taking it one step at a time to make the world a better place.

GOLD: At this time we are staying at home to stay safe. Think about the family community in your house at the moment, complete the drawing task and write your answers to the questions below around the outside.

1. How is a family like a community? A family is like a community as it binds us together.
2. What family values do you share? As a family we try as much as possible to stick to our Islamic tenets
3. How are you supporting each other through Covid19? By been kind to one another, helping round the house, spending quality time together and luckily for us it's the month of Ramadan so spending lots of time together and learning more about our religion.
